

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
NORTHERN DISTRICT OF OHIO
EASTERN DIVISION

JAMES HAYDEN,

Plaintiff,

2K GAMES, INC. and TAKE-TWO
INTERACTIVE SOFTWARE, INC. ,

Defendants.

CASE NO. 1:17-cv-02635-CAB

ANSWER TO SECOND AMENDED COMPLAINT

Defendants 2K Games, Inc. and Take-Two Interactive Software, Inc. (collectively “Take-Two”), by and through their undersigned counsel, answer Plaintiff James Hayden’s (“Plaintiff”) Second Amended Complaint (“SAC”), dated June 4, 2018, as follows:

NATURE OF ACTION, JURISDICTION, AND VENUES

1. States that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 1 of the SAC are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, and further states that no response to the allegation in Paragraph 1 of the SAC that this is an action for “declaratory judgment pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2201, and, in the alternative, unjust enrichment under the Ohio common law” is necessary given that the Court has dismissed Plaintiff’s claims against Take-Two for a declaratory judgment pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2201 and unjust enrichment under Ohio common law, but that to the extent any response is required, admits that the SAC purports to assert a claim for copyright infringement.

2. States that no response to Paragraph 2 of the SAC is necessary given that the Court has dismissed Plaintiff’s claim against Take-Two for unjust enrichment, and further states that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 2 are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 2, except admits that this case concerns Take-Two's realistic depiction of professional basketball players, including with the tattoos that they bear in real life, in Take-Two's NBA 2K16, NBA 2K17, and NBA 2K18 video games, and further admits that Take-Two's NBA 2K16, NBA 2K17, and NBA 2K18 video games are highly successful but states that the success of these games is unrelated to the tattoos at issue in this case.

3. States that no response to Paragraph 3 of the SAC is necessary given that the Court has dismissed Plaintiff's declaratory judgment claim against Take-Two for fraud on the U.S. Copyright Office, and further states that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 3 are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 3.

4. States that no response to Paragraph 4 of the SAC is necessary with respect to declaratory relief given that the Court has dismissed Plaintiff's declaratory judgment claim against Take-Two, and further states that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 4 are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, admits that the SAC purports to seek preliminary and permanent injunctive relief and damages.

5. States that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 5 of the SAC are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 5.

6. States that no response to Paragraph 6 of the SAC is necessary with respect to Plaintiff's declaratory judgment claim given that the Court has dismissed Plaintiff's declaratory judgment claim against Take-Two, and further states that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 6 are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, admits that the Court has original subject matter jurisdiction over the copyright claims the SAC purports to assert against Take-Two.

7. States that no response to Paragraph 7 of the SAC is necessary given that the Court has dismissed Plaintiff's state law claim against Take-Two, and further states that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 7 are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary.

8. States that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 8 of the SAC are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, admits that this Court has personal jurisdiction over Take-Two for purposes of the claims set forth in the SAC.

9. Denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 9 of the SAC, except admits that at least one copy of Take-Two's NBA 2K16, NBA 2K17, and NBA 2K18 video games have been sold in Ohio.

10. States that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 10 of the SAC are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 10, except admits that 2K Games, Inc. is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Take-Two Interactive Software, Inc., and further admits that Take-Two was involved in the development, promotion, distribution, marketing, and contracting to supply NBA 2K16, NBA 2K17, and NBA 2K18 in Ohio.

11. States that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 13 of the SAC are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, admits that at least one copy of NBA 2K16, NBA 2K17, and NBA 2K18 have been sold in Ohio.

12. States that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 12 of the SAC are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 12.

13. States that no response to Paragraph 13 of the SAC is necessary given that the Court has dismissed Plaintiff's claim against Take-Two for unjust enrichment, and further states that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 13 are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 13.

14. States that no response to Paragraph 14 of the SAC is necessary given that the Court has dismissed Plaintiff's claim against Take-Two for unjust enrichment, and further states that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 14 are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 14.

15. States that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 15 of the SAC are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, denies the allegations in Paragraph 15, except admits that venue is proper in this District.

16. Denies knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the allegations set forth in Paragraph 16 of the SAC.

17. States that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 17 of the SAC are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, admits the allegations set forth in Paragraph 17.

116. States that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 116 of the SAC are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, denies knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the allegations set forth in Paragraph 116.

120. States that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 120 of the SAC are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, denies knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the allegations set forth in Paragraph 120.

124. States that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 124 of the SAC are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 124.

125. States that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 125 of the SAC are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 125.

126. States that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 126 of the SAC are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 126.

127. Denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 127 of the SAC, except admits that on September 29, 2015, Take-Two released its NBA 2K16 video game, which realistically depicts professional basketball.

128. Admits the allegations set forth in Paragraph 128 of the SAC.

129. Denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 129 of the SAC, except admits that LeBron James, Kyrie Irving, Danny Green, and Tristan Thompson are among the over 400 NBA players included in NBA 2K16.

130. States that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 130 of the SAC are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 130, except admits that LeBron James, Kyrie Irving, Danny Green, and Tristan Thompson are depicted realistically in NBA 2K16, including with the tattoos they bear in real life.

131. Denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 131 of the SAC.

132. Denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 132 of the SAC, except admits that Take-Two has promoted NBA 2K16's MyCAREER mode, one component of which allows players to create MyPLAYER characters with certain tattoos, but notes that the tattoos available in MyCAREER mode do not include the tattoos at issue in this litigation or any other real world tattoos.

133. Denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 133 of the SAC, except admits that Take-Two has promoted NBA 2K16's MyCAREER mode, one component of which allows players to create MyPLAYER characters with certain tattoos, but notes that the tattoos available in MyCAREER mode do not include the tattoos at issue in this litigation or any other real world tattoos.

134. Denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 134 of the SAC, except admits that Take-Two has promoted NBA 2K16's MyCAREER mode, one component of which allows players to create MyPLAYER characters with certain tattoos and purchase tattoos for their customized MyPLAYER characters, but notes that the tattoos available for purchase in MyCAREER mode do not include the tattoos at issue in this litigation or any other real world tattoos.

135. Denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 135 of the SAC, except admits that on September 20, 2016, Take-Two released its NBA 2K17 video game, which realistically depicts professional basketball.

136. Admits the allegations set forth in Paragraph 136 of the SAC.

137. Denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 137 of the SAC, except admits that LeBron James, Kyrie Irving, Danny Green, and Tristan Thompson are among the over 400 NBA players included in NBA 2K17.

138. States that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 138 of the SAC are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 138, except admits that LeBron James, Kyrie Irving, Danny Green, and Tristan Thompson are depicted realistically in NBA 2K17, including with the tattoos they bear in real life.

139. Denies the allegations in Paragraph 139 of the SAC.

140. Denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 140 of the SAC, except admits that Take-Two has promoted NBA 2K17's MyCAREER mode, one component of which allows players to create MyPLAYER characters with certain tattoos, but notes that the tattoos available in MyCAREER mode do not include the tattoos at issue in this litigation or any other real world tattoos.

141. Denies the allegations in Paragraph 141 of the SAC, except admits that Take-Two made improvements to the NBA 2K17 game, and states that NBA 2K17 is a professional basketball simulation game whose main premise, settings, primary game modes, athletes, and features mirror those of NBA 2K16, and the professional basketball players' tattoos in NBA 2K do not change from game to game, unless the professional basketball players change their tattoos in real life, because Take-Two is depicting the players as they appear in real life. Take-Two further states that the document attached to the SAC as Exhibit I speaks for itself.

142. Denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 142 of the SAC, and states that the professional basketball players' tattoos in NBA 2K do not change from game to game, unless the professional basketball players change their tattoos in real life, because Take-Two is depicting the players as they appear in real life.

143. Denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 143 of the SAC, except admits that on September 19, 2017, Take-Two released its NBA 2K18 video game, which realistically depicts professional basketball.

147. Denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 147 of the SAC, except admits that the Cleveland Cavaliers and the Golden State Warriors are the default teams on the Quickgame Team Select menu in NBA 2K18 as they were the NBA championship teams from the previous year.

148. Denies the allegations in Paragraph 148 of the SAC, except admits that NBA 2K18 includes realistic depictions of NBA players including the tattoos they have in real life and that Take-Two made certain limited improvements in creating NBA 2K18, and further states that NBA 2K18 is a professional basketball simulation game whose main premise, settings, primary game modes, athletes, and features mirror those of NBA 2K16 and NBA 2K17, and the professional basketball players' tattoos in NBA 2K do not change from game to game, unless the professional basketball players change their tattoos in real life, because Take-Two is depicting the players as they appear in real life.

149. Denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 149 of the SAC.

150. Denies knowledge or information sufficient to admit or deny the allegations set forth in Paragraph 150 of the SAC, except denies the allegation in Paragraph 150 that users of NBA 2K16, NBA 2K17, and NBA 2K18 often choose to play with the Cleveland Cavaliers.

151. States that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 151 of the SAC are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 151, and states that Plaintiff's permission was not required to realistically depict NBA players in NBA 2K16, NBA 2K17, and NBA 2K18.

152. States that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 152 of the SAC are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 152, except admits that for NBA 2K16, NBA 2K17, and NBA 2K18, Take-Two sells into retailers in this District, including online retailers such as Amazon.com.

153. Denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 153 of the SAC, except admits that NBA 2K video games are generally sold on plastic discs packaged in plastic cases.

154. Denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 154 of the SAC, except admits that each disc is programmed with at least one computer program, which a video game console then reads to operate the game.

157. States that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 157 of the SAC are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 157, except admits that NBA 2K depicts NBA players realistically, including with the tattoos they bear in real life.

158. States that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 158 of the SAC are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 158, except admits that video games run by temporarily saving data from a disc onto a video game console's random access memory (RAM).

159. States that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 159 of the SAC are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 159, except admits that when NBA players are depicted on the screen in NBA 2K, the tattoos they bear are distorted, blurred, and often blocked from view by other visual elements in NBA 2K.

161. States that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 161 of the SAC are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 161.

162. States that no response to Paragraph 162 of the SAC is necessary given that the Court has dismissed Plaintiff's claim against Take-Two for unjust enrichment, and further states that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 162 are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 162.

163. States that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 163 of the SAC are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 163 of the SAC, except admits that Take-Two has earned revenues from NBA 2K16, NBA 2K17, and NBA 2K18.

164. Denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 164 of the SAC, except admits that Take-Two sold-in over 4 million copies of NBA 2K16 within the first week of the game's release.

165. Denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 165 of the SAC, except admits that Take-Two's sales for digital copies of NBA 2K16 were double that of Take-Two's NBA 2K15 video game.

166. Denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 166 of the SAC, except admits that for fiscal second quarter 2016, Take-Two's Non-GAAP net revenue grew 169%, as compared to fiscal second quarter 2015, to $364.9 million.

167. Denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 167 of the SAC, except admits that Take-Two sold-in over 4.5 million copies of NBA 2K17 within the first week of the game's release.

168. Denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 168 of the SAC, except admits that for fiscal second quarter 2017, Take-Two's net revenue grew 21%, as compared to fiscal second quarter 2016, to $347.0 million.

169. States that the allegations set forth in Paragraph 169 of the SAC are conclusions of law as to which no responsive pleading is necessary, but that to the extent any response is required, denies the allegations set forth in Paragraph 169, except admits that the discs containing NBA 2K16, NBA 2K17, and NBA 2K18, as well as the package inserts accompanying the boxes in which these discs are sold, include a printed copyright notice identifying “Take-Two Interactive Software and its subsidiaries” as the copyright owner.

DEFENDANTS' AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSES

FIRST DEFENSE (FAILURE TO STATE A CLAIM)

233. Plaintiff's claims fail, in whole or in part, because the SAC, and each and every claim stated therein, fails to state a claim upon which relief can be granted.

SECOND DEFENSE (DE MINIMIS USE)

234. Plaintiff's claims are barred, in whole or in part, by the doctrine of de minimis use.

THIRD DEFENSE
(FAIR USE)

235. Plaintiff's claims are barred, in whole or in part, by the doctrine of fair use. 17 U.S.C. § 107.

FOURTH DEFENSE
(LICENSE)

236. Plaintiff's claims are barred, in whole or in part, because Take-Two has a license to the works at issue.

FIFTH DEFENSE
(CONSENT, WAIVER, ESTOPPEL)

237. Plaintiff's claims are barred, in whole or in part, by consent, waiver, and/or estoppel.

SIXTH DEFENSE
(NON-INFRINGEMENT)

238. Plaintiff's claims are barred, in whole or in part, because Defendants do not and have not infringed the copyrights at issue, including without limitation pursuant to the doctrines of scenes a faire, merger and/or other limits on the scope of copyright protection.

SEVENTH DEFENSE
(LACK OF COPYRIGHT REGISTRATION)

239. Plaintiff's claims are barred, in whole or in part, to the extent that his claims are based on works that were not registered with the U.S. Copyright Office, but rather on subsequent derivative works based on registered designs.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Defendants Take-Two Interactive Software, Inc. and 2K Games, Inc. respectfully request judgment against Plaintiff James Hayden as follows:

- A. Deny Plaintiff all relief requested in its Second Amended Complaint in this action and dismiss Hayden's Second Amended Complaint with prejudice;
- B. Grant an award of Defendants' costs and disbursements in this action, including reasonable attorney's fees pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 505; and
- C. Grant such other, further and different relief as the Court deems just and proper.
